They are not hard, the crossover is much cleaner than the closest of this price, the voices look very good, they are musical and do not look horrible. (The size of the last pool is still quite small) so that you will have, but when confronted with a good Pair of speakers turns off. Well, at least every of 1940. Until today, I made a spinning for about seven people, all, they said unanimously, my fiance sounds better. What is the scientific basis for any of these? The original Phantom has 2 drivers with the same piston area as an 8 "driver, also designed to launch very long and using the DSP to apply the inverse of the roll-off from the cabinet. % A good speaker, but the low notes are not very well reproduced. I had them, but I gave them to my son. You do not have to believe me. How can you see (and listen if you have An open mind), they are not playful. They took over immediate life through the Internet and the group - think Hype. I felt that the results were large and worthy of note, but I do not have media That I realized is a big problem here, so I table my claims and just propose that it could be worth someone trying if they do not want to rebuild the crossover. I only ask because I used to Sell the first Linn speakers - (shouting kans either - ouch !!!) and the difference of 10dB or so many difference in the low level of 100Hz subin From for 1.5kHz could be reduced by one third with a tight wall mount. I wonder if the longest production f is a loudspeaker? I'm just offering my experiences here as you are. Little expensive. I like his veils. They are also for sale at $ 99 at Pioneer. So with all of them you do not have the problems of the MTM center, still get the central horizontal layout, but no back door to worry about yourself to put the thing on a TV holder or against a wall. I'm really interested in a blind test. I had them, but I gave them to my son. I understood. Â & COne of the reasons why I began to do the experiments with a component at a time. Página 5 Loving the comments ... especially those who still swear through these wonders of Andrew Jones marketing. Yes, the ELAC premieres are simply better in every way. My guess is that AJ had in mind that these would be paired with a quality receiver or integrated quality budget. There is a personal reason ... the wire is quite easy to pull out, then â € â € ™ why I have been playing with it and the results have been subjectively large. Observing the preference classifications, they should sound better than Kef LS50s and Harbeth Monitor 30s when used with a subwoofer. Great sound; It almost made me stop buying CDs. Â € too â € Me ear $ 40,000 wires. This is an important distinction. Sure. I had a new pair sitting in a box in my portion there's a long time. The difficult part is â € code preference in a similar price range.â € Me well the small ghost has 2 low long launch drivers projected down low, are not sure the size of the piston. Conductors and intersection are eminently accessible. Eager to see his test results eventually. Soundstage has steps. Next! Something is lost, but something won in life every day - Joni Mitchell, Both Sides Now I find Helping friends put together cheap music systems, and these are my usual µ. Once there is a larger body of measured speakers, it will create a phantom base to choose speakers for a blind test shooting. I hope this helps, I'm not the expert in any sense. So if you don't claim that increasing the wire has a percept effect, there has to be an alé m motive of the pioneering garbage speaker. I really don't think a pair of $99 speakers could sound so good. I suppose, because of the train door, there's a problem if I murmur them, yes? Good data. Reading Floyd Toole ⢠s that one could argue as much as doing homework. There, add them slightly so that the tweeter points better to our ears, if we hear in the 3 field as I suppose. I suppose you don't mean the harbor cover (TurbulNot softer, power-port thing)... Last: February 26, 2021 @ maiky76 Thank you! It's not me, but also a lot of people will like it!! Thanks again!!! a lot. Since then I've been rewiring for my FS52 Bloweanders! And sacred cow they reach both cleaner and more difficult. They have been for years. There is an obvious improvement 3 the entire frequency spectrum in terms of pitch and tone 4s. I've heard him make those claims us in a matter of times. Still, you can't probably get many cheap little speakers without proper crossovers, and maybe the odd with kind of decent drivers, but still without proper crossover. Andrew, what are you? I don't have any misgivings about you and your friends have heard a difference, but all of our cà ©rebros are highly suggestibleey I found Polk in CL for $75, Klipsch in Newegg for $140, Sonys in the best purchase for $150 and the pioneers in CL for $60. The initial post does not delve into "why." The testing here at ASR shows that the primary weakness is the bass performance, and these mods do not appear to address that. The Altec 604 Duplex (now GPA) dates to 1943. Good look with your expensive DACs. The money you good sound. You are seriously trying to do a comparison? If we discount the comments that use meaningless editorial descriptions - "fart," "horror," "marketing," "groupthink" etc - "Fart" or "fart out" is a technical term, though. Would strongly NOT recommend it. They looked beautiful but I was a little disappointed that the port was plastic. entire theater system for much less than $1k, including the receiver and the extra subwoofer. You could probably spend more than $150 ~ $200 elsewhere in a sub and get something better. And the only copper I could get was 99.9 percent copper on eBay. Last: June 10, 2020 currently under $69.99 refurbished and guaranteed by pioneer with gross

Happy New Year to all! Bill Oi, here's my opinion on the eg for @jade who asked for it. And they serve to lose the fear of improving the better and more expensive speakers. And I felt through ©s of yarn demos worth $40k and were largely unimpressed because I really struggled to hear any significant difference. Some of the KEF centers look interesting. I rate the things I buy based on how they sound to me. After seeing the Amir train disaster review of the $200 / PR flu monitors, I was tempted to bring back my BS22 mod if I could find stock model closures anywhere. Thank you for the Amir review. But the wings, these speakers probably won't come back. If we disregard comments that use meaningless editorial descriptions µfart, horror, marketing, groupthink, etc.) and comments that are overly general - "I never liked them", "not impressed" - what remains for us are comments that these speakers are unable to produce deep and clean bass, particularly in louder volume levels. Yeah, I opened a can of worms on a different wire in this 3. It was good. Does any Klipsch bookshelf model (r15 or r51) evaluate the entry? A little more expensive, but definitely worth changing. You didn't measure the resistance of the wire you removed? Heck, maybe they have some fatal flaw in the spinorama. It seems that these are no longer manufactured by O&P (Onkyo). This assumption is consistent with the engineering conclusion that a cent of an ohm will not affect the sound of the speaker. So, that's why I imagined seeing what would happen if I opened my Elac and Pioneer speakers and I swapped the 16ga copper wires for the woofer and tweeter. Speakers: Wharfedale Diamond 225 You can't say you didn't like them, that's fine, but you can't argue that the measures that stand out for the price are "marketing." Clearly they

For these functions, I thought they were a stupendous value, and I was shocked by the quality of the Midrange for the money, and even live, how good it was your image is L-R. This topical and other ASR comments were extremely a Ótible in my decision to get these speakers. It is a dying hobby and good accessible speakers are fundamental to obtain fresh blood in our ranks. If DIY kits are an option, the Sensations C and at night dunk throughout the BS22s for a similar price, although this is not really a fair comparison. I can not classify categorically, but it is certainly amazing. I have a couple of these, which I picked up 4-5 years ago when they were for sale for $60 / pair. I have heard for about 2 weeks now and I have to admit that they sound very well in the nearby environment. Here is the good news though. I will leave these modifications to other people ... but the windy copper wire for copper plated poles and the monkeys seem to dang nearby. Or maybe 9.5 "inches along the AWG22 wire for tweeter terminals? And I feel super lazy even thinking about updating the crossover. I'll set up soon and add photos. What is a good underwit to match these (preferably in a similar track price)? Thus, readers are left with the assumption that what you are listening to is dominated by what you expect to hear, not for Any real difference in sound. Replacement by IBL 230 and still not really an update more than a lateral sane or better degree of size. The result was as described, extremely neutral, very musical. The difference is unbelievable. Considered value for money, they are indestructible. I know we don't have as many test centers here yet. I don't think Amir's time is worth it, particularly if they are out of production. Yes, they're not as good as the bands. And I have my two reference systems using 3 silver. I think, however, that in doing the blind test, time should be spent defining each speaker in such a way that "it puts its best p© forward". Speakers should be positioned and eq'd/tuned so that they are approaching as close to a neutral signature as possible (within reason, not clear.) My first post here! I would definitely recommend polk rti a1 when a sale. I wouldn't be holding my breath though. I paired them with a (now discontinued) 15W Abmp AB Humbrid Tube (which sounded much better than the 25W amp that the mon³price was and still selling. bought both to compare). The difference is much more powerful MIDs and basses and a top end without effort. If only bad recordings are µ, then there is no need to spend a lot of money on the floor, including the speakers. The LM1875 offers a strong step in the sq on the Mon³price 15W hBride, and a huge step of the 3 25w hBrido (no comparison, including the speakers). spite of the cheaper prep of an LM1875 - you need to feel comfortable out of AliExpress and have problems communicating with people just fluent in Chinese that is crudely translated by AliExpress Express). Cross this at 100Hz and smooth the peaks at 1k and about 2.4k with some EQ and I bet these would look very good, especially for the preXh. This tunneling that causes phase shifts that stains the signal. Polyfill There is an absorbent, no shock

Before I found the ASR 3, I read a lot of moderately useful articles with labels like "the top 10 Vinyl Plating Speakers" etc. You can't get it just by making a wire replacement using 3 copper. Still, so far I've paid more for subs ($800) than the net

So now this guy who made the speaker wires is trying to figure out what to do with his expensive wires. As far as the bookshelves are concerned, I'm still inclined to prefer the RB42s because I think the pioneers are home like hell, lol. Personally, I have never thought much over the years until you come to experience the 3., but I found the LS50 to make the sound more nuanced. This is, without a doubt, truth - and also consistent with my own experience - but hardly a condemnation of these speakers, given their dimension and their premises. After it leaves him, I picked up a pair of $ 99 from Pioneer. It is not a question, as it uses and how what anti-cables are using could be a step above stranded wire. I have a couple of those I bought when they left. Its mediocrity often noticed in the high-end was a no problem for me, as for the casual TV audition I was more focused on the mid-bass (for some sensing Weight and a well-balanced sense of sound and no "tinny").
